Introduction
The Two Gentlemen of Verona

- Written by William Shakespeare
- Probably early 1590's
- Comedy about friendship, love and infidelity
- Satire on superficial and indiscriminate love
- Shakespeare never published his plays
- Works were published posthumously in 1623
Introduction

• Play first performed between 1594 and 1595
• Language: Early Modern English
• Humorous play with references to Greek myths
• Act 1 Scene 1: Valentine wants to leave Verona; he asks Proteus to come with him
• Proteus is in love with Julia and does not want to go
• First Valentine makes fun of him but then leaves alone
VALENTINE:

Cease to persuade, my loving Proteus: Home-keeping youth have ever homely wits. Were't not affection chains thy tender days To the sweet glances of thy honour'd love,

Ever: "always"

Thy: 2nd person, singular, informal, genitive
Act I, Scene 1

I rather would entreat thy company
To see the wonders of the world abroad,
Than, living dully sluggardized at home,
Wear out thy youth with shapeless idleness.
But since thou lovest, love still and thrive therein,
Even as I would when I to love begin.

Therein: "in it," OE Ḟærin, used before 12th century
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

Wilt thou be gone? Sweet Valentine, adieu!
Think on thy Proteus, when thou haply seest
Some rare note-worthy object in thy travel:

Wilt thou: Modal for volition, rare today; thou is second person, singular, informal, nominative haply: by chance, coincidentally
Act I, Scene 1

Wish me partaker in thy happiness
When thou dost meet good hap; and in thy danger,

If ever danger do environ thee,
Commend thy grievance to my holy prayers,
For I will be thy beadsman, Valentine.

happiness: "success"
dost: second person, singular of “to do”
hap: "coincidence"
Act I, Scene 1

VALENTINE
And on a love-book pray for my success?

PROTEUS
Upon some book I love I'll pray for thee.

VALENTINE
That's on some shallow story of deep love:
How young Leander cross'd the Hellespont.
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

That's a deep story of a deeper love:
For he was more than over-shoes in love.

VALENTINE

'Tis true; for you are over-boots in love,
And yet you never swum the Hellespont.

Over-shoes: "ankle-deep"
Over-boots: exaggeration of “over-shoes”
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

Over the boots? nay, give me not the boots.

VALENTINE

No, I will not, for it boots thee not.

PROTEUS

What?

Give me not: direct negation of the verb without an auxiliary; Typical word order for a sentence with a negation in EModE

It boots: "to help, to serve, to benefit"
Act I, Scene 1

VALENTINE

To be in love, where scorn is bought with groans;

Coy looks with heart-sore sighs; one fading moment's mirth

With twenty watchful, weary, tedious nights:
Act I, Scene 1

If haply won, perhaps a hapless gain;
If lost, why then a grievous labour won;
However, but a folly bought with wit,
Or else a wit by folly vanquished.

PROTEUS

So, by your circumstance, you call me fool.

haply: "coincidentally"

hapless: "unfortunately" your/you: "formal singular forms"

VALENTINE

So, by your circumstance, I fear you'll prove.

PROTEUS

'Tis love you cavil at: I am not Love.
VALENTINE

Love is your master, for he masters you:
And he that is so yoked by a fool,

Methinks, should not be chronicled for wise.

He masters: “he” refers to love, mentioned in the line before. In OE, references to things were made by using “he” or ”she”; neuter was later introduced

Methinks: seems, seems to be
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

Yet writers say, as in the sweetest bud
The eating canker dwells, so eating love Inhabits in the finest wits of all.

_Dwells/ Inhabits: the third person, singular, present tense endings -eth/-th were replaced by -s/-es in Early Modern English_
VALENTINE

And writers say, as the most forward bud
Is eaten by the canker ere it blow,
Even so by love the young and tender wit
Is turn'd to folly, blasting in the bud,

Ere: "soon"

Blow: no {s} ending in 3rd person singular present tense because subjunctive
Act I, Scene 1

Losing his verdure even in the prime
And all the fair effects of future hopes.
But wherefore waste I time to counsel thee,
That art a votary to fond desire?

his: reference to “bud”, personal pronoun
That: non-defining relative pronoun; today not possible (ModE demands who)

Once more adieu! my father at the road
Expects my coming, there to see me shipp'd.
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

And thither will I bring thee, Valentine.

VALENTINE

Sweet Proteus, no; now let us take our leave.
To Milan let me hear from thee by letters
Of thy success in love, and what news else
Betideth here in absence of thy friend;
And likewise will visit thee with mine.
Act I, Scene 1

PROTEUS

All happiness bechance to thee in Milan!

VALENTINE

As much to you at home! and so, farewell.

Thither: O.E. þider "to or toward that place"
else: meaning similar to today, word order different
Betideth: {-th} ending in contrast to {-s} ending
bechance: by chance

Periphrastic “do“

“When thou dost meet good hap“

- 2\textsuperscript{nd} person singular ”do“
- Contains no meaning on its own
- periphrastic do is most common where the inflectional ending on the verb would yield a complex consonantal clusters; the use of do was generalized to non-emphatic affirmative statements
Word formation “hap“

- hap: "coincidence"
- haply: "coincidentally"
  - “-ly“ adjective
- hapless: "unfortunately"
  - “- less“ negation
- happiness: "success"
Explanation of terms

PROTEUS
If ever danger do environ thee,
   Commend thy grievance to my holy prayers,
   For I will be thy beadsman, Valentine.

VALENTINE
   And on a love-book pray for my success?

PROTEUS
   Upon some book I love I'll pray for thee.

VALENTINE
   That's on some shallow story of deep love:
   How young Leander cross'd the Hellespont.
Explanation of terms: Beadsmen

- Old English “biddan”: to pray
- literally "a man of prayer"
- Pensioner or beggar who prays for his benefactor
- Scotland: public beadsmen supported by the king → pray for his and the state's welfare
- Long used as an equivalent to servant
Explanation of terms: Hellespont

- separates Anatolia from Europe
- Named after Helle, who was drowned here in the mythology of the Golden Fleece
- Leander had to cross to date Hero
Explanation of terms: Leander

- Greek myth “Hero and Leander“
- Hero: priestess of Aphrodite, lived in a tower in Sestos, at the edge of the Hellespont
- Leander: lived on the other side of the strait, fell in love with her and swam across every night
- Hero lit a lamp to guide his way
- Stormy winter night: wind blew out Hero's light
- Leander lost his way and drowned
- Hero threw herself from the tower

Two Gentlemen of Verona Summary. Two best friends, Proteus and Valentine, travel to Milan where they both fall in love with Silvia. Silvia loves Valentine, but Proteus pursues her despite the fact he has a girlfriend at home. Act I. Young friends Valentine and Proteus say farewell to one another as Valentine resolves to travel. Proteus will not leave Verona, where his beloved Julia lives. Meanwhile, Julia's maid, Lucetta, gives her a letter from Proteus. Julia treasures it despite her outward show of carelessness for the love it conveys. They do not love that do not show their love. — Two Gentlemen of Verona, Act 1 Scene 2. Act II. Later, Antonio, Proteus's father, sends his son to Milan, much to the sorrow of Julia. Proteus and Julia part with words of love to one another. DUKE OF MILAN, father to Silvia VALENTINE, one of the two gentlemen PROTEUS, "ANTONIO, father to Proteus THURIO, a foolish rival to Valentine EGLAMOUR, agent for Silvia in her escape SPEED, a clownish servant to Valentine LAUNCE, the like to Proteus PANTHINO, servant to Antonio HOST, where Julia lodges in Milan OUTLAWS, with Valentine. JULIA, a lady of Verona, beloved of Proteus SILVIA, the Duke's daughter, beloved of Valentine LUCETTA, waiting-woman to Julia. SERVANTS. MUSICIANS. SCENE: Verona; Milan; the frontiers of Mantua. ACT I. SCENE I. Verona. An open place. Enter Two Gentleman of Verona also is the first example of a Shakespearean heroine cross-dressing as a boy, a common occurrence in many future works. The play opens with Valentine, a young man from Verona, who is eager to leave for the larger city of Milan. Seeking comradery, he tries to persuade his friend Proteus to accompany him. But Proteus is in love with Julia and does not want to leave her side in Verona. Reluctantly, Valentine leaves alone for Milan. Julia ponders her relationship with Proteus with her maid Lucetta who insists that Proteus has affections for her.
