The world book publishing map was created by the team from a book discovery platform Bookstr. The countries with more than 100 thousand books published per year are displayed in red. Orange is reserved for 50-100k and light green for 10-50k countries. It’s China, not the US or the UK to top the list. The number of books published in China (440 thousand in 2013) is twice as big as in the UK. Obviously, the list and visualization can only give the overall idea of the publishing around the world. First of all, it’s extremely difficult to collect comparable figures from different countries. The years the data was collected spread between 2015 and 1991. Plus, there is always a question whether to count revised editions as new publications or not. Now, coming back to the readers. E-book. For books consulted online, include a URL or the name of the database. For other types of e-books, name the format. If no fixed page numbers are available, cite a section title or a chapter or other number in the notes, if any (or simply omit). Notes. Journal articles often list many authors, especially in the sciences. If there are four or more authors, list up to ten in the bibliography; in a note, list only the first, followed by et al. (and others). For more than ten authors (not shown here), list the first seven in the bibliography, followed by et al. Note. 7. Rachel A. Bay et al., “Predicting Responses to Contemporary Environmental Change Using Evolutionary Response Architectures,” American Naturalist 189, no. 5 (May 2017): 465, https://doi.org/10.1086/691233. World Wide Web. Dimitar. This chapter presents a bibliographical survey with more than 550 titles on the natural and constructed systems of Porto Alegre. Organizes these works in three large groups: a) historical and general works prior to 1900; b) general works of the region of Porto Alegre and the South Brazil; c) thematic works on Porto Alegre. In addition, for each one of these classes and their subclasses is presented the production of titles per decade, as well as by subject. System requirements: World Wide Web browser and PDF reader. Mode of access: Available through the Internet. Title from document title page.
